OPA TO ENDEAVOR TO HOLD PRICES AT PRESENT LEVEL

Such as Food, Rayon and Woolen Clothing, Durable
Goods and Rents

"ROLLBACK" ON MEAT

Outlook for Maintaining Present Prices on Cotton
Clothing "Not Good"

By William T. Mendenhall
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—(INS)—
Deputy Price Administrator Geoffrey Baker promised the nation today that "in the main, prices will be staying about where they are."

Baker in a talk over the ABC network said that OPA planned to maintain prices of food, rayon and woolen clothing and consumer durable goods and rents at their present levels.

His statement came on the heels of an estimate by OPA officials that increases reflected in the new retail ceilings on meat would add about 750 million dollars to consumers' annual food bill.

These officials said the new meat ceilings, effective Tuesday, would be about 12 per cent above June 30 levels, but would represent a rollback of approximately 30 per cent from present uncontrolled meat prices.

In his radio talk, Baker pointed out that the new price control law required "a good many increases" be added.

"That's why there was such a flood of them all at once. But that rush is over now."

"In the main, prices will be staying about where they are. We do not expect them to go higher and higher."

Baker said that the outlook for maintaining present ceilings on cotton clothing was "not good" because of a provision of the new OPA law requiring the agency to raise prices of cotton cloth whenever uncontrolled raw cotton prices go up.

The Deputy Price Administrator expressed belief that OPA would "be able to keep ceilings on new cars about where they are" and he said prices of washing machines, ironers, and radios would stay at the current level.

He joined meat industry spokesmen in warning that the nation may be confronted with a meat shortage. Baker declared:

"We may as well face the fact that there is not enough meat for everybody to get all he wants of every kind. And the fact that we've already eaten part of the supply that would be coming in during the next few months—if the removal of ceilings—"

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Bound By Inheritance

Washington, Sept. 7.—
Democratic Chairman Robert
Hannegan's journalistic reflections are accurate, the line of the Democratic campaign this fall, and for 1948, has now been determined and by him. He is represented as having expressed his "views" to President Truman "in no uncertain terms," letting that gentleman understand that if they were not accepted he would not stay—either as chairman of Postmaster General.

OF COURSE, this is nonsense. For one thing, Mr. Hannegan does not talk that way to Mr. Truman. He just represents himself as talking that way. For another, whether his "views" are adopted or not, Mr.
Hannegan has not the remotest notion of giving up either of his jobs. That is just another of his representations, some day these representations, which began when

A SUMMARY OF THE NEWS

More than 1,600 ships were idle yesterday as the nation-wide shipping strike crippled deep-water transport and ports on the Atlantic, Pacific and Gulf Coasts. Washington authorities called it "the toughest yet" in New York City, where 344 vessels were affected, shipping men agreed the tie-up was the worst they had experienced.

Secretary Byrnes urged early creation of a centralized provisional German Government in a comprehensive address in Stuttgart before an audience including 150 German officials. He rejected the proposal to sever the Ruhr and the Rhineland from Germany, but approved the cession of the Saar to France and maintained that the German-Polish frontier was provisional and not fixed on the Oder. He said security forces probably would remain in Germany for a long time and added:
"We will not shrink our duty. We are not withdrawing. We are staying here."

Washington observers considered
Mr. Byrnes' speech the most important statement by this nation on Germany since Potsdam and a reply to the position set forth by Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov. The British Foreign Office said Britain welcomed the address "very warmly."

In Paris, France and China favores the Russian proposal to postpone the meeting of the United Nations Assembly and Foreign Secretary Bevin appeared to be wavering at a meeting of the Foreign Ministers' Council. The United States maintained its stand against delay and no final decision was made.

The British delegate to the Italian
Political and Territorial Commission warned that, unless an agreement was reached on the basis of the compromise by the Big Four on the Trieste issue, Britain would feel free to return to her original views and support Italy's claims.

Italy and Austria agreed that the former should retain the south Tyrol, but that the German-speaking inhabitants of the region should have regional autonomy, minority privileges and free trade with Austria.

Yugoslavia announced that a Greek military plane had been forced down over Yugoslav territory and charged that Greek aircraft had been repeatedly flying over the frontier. An Athens report said the Greek plane had been shot down by anti-aircraft fire.

In China, General Marshall flew eralissimo Chiang Kai-shek on the

Organizing Chorus For Civic Meeting Here

One of the features of the civic meeting which is to be held in the Grand Theatre on Thursday, September 19th, in connection with celebration of "Pennsylvania Week," will be a chorus representative of the Bristol area.

The directors of the local church choirs have been approached on the subject and they feel that their choir members will cooperate to make the chorus a success.

One hundred voices, of which 40 should be male, are needed. All who can sing, whether they are members of a choir or not, are invited to attend the first rehearsal on Monday evening, September 9th, at eight o'clock, in the Presbyterian Church on Radcliffe street.

AUXILIARY HEARS OF STATE CONVENTION

Mrs. Allen Lebo Tells of Activities at Sessions Held In Philadelphia

INSTALLATION IN OCT.

A comprehensive account of the sessions of the state convention of American Legion Auxiliaries, held recently in Philadelphia, was presented to members of the Auxiliary of Robert W. Bracken Post last evening by Mrs. Allen Lebo, who had been named a delegate.

Mrs. Lebo reported that an American flag had been presented at the convention by Mrs. William Blester in honor of Mrs. Erma Bette, past state president, whose son was recently killed in an airplane accident.
Another report was that 712,000 veterans are now patients in 112 hospitals in Pennsylvania; and that state auxiliary memberships now total 77,000. It was stated that 1809 pounds of candy had been donated to hospitals since January, and that the need for such is great. Mrs.
Anthony Cardamone it was announced, was elected new eastern director for Bucks-Montgomery district; and Mrs. A. Bruce Dennison, of Greenville, state president. Other information was that the department auxiliaries have donated to the present time $2,319.50 for junior baseball. Acknowledgment of the director of Scotland school for gifts for boys there was received, 335

NEW YORK CAMPAIGN

The political campaign in New York State now is in full swing. It will be a fight worth watching.

Both parties are using it as a sort of test-tube for the Presidential races two years off. This is natural, for the fact is that the public's pulse has not yet really been taken since the end of the war, so far as concerns national issues.

Political big-shots are numerous in the New York battle. Some of the candidates themselves are nationally known, and other party chiefs are conspicuous in the roles of advisors, runners of interference, and water-boys.

Thomas E. Dewey, running for re-election as Governor, was the Republican nominee for President two years ago, and beyond question expects to be considered seriously at the next convention. A run-away victory this fall would greatly improve his chances. On the other hand, a close result or a defeat might eliminate him from the White House.

Opposing him is Senator Mead, who has attracted a great deal of publicity in recent weeks by a sudden burst of activity in investigating munitions scandals which have been seething in Washington for two or three years.

Conspicuous in the New York preliminaries was Mrs.
Roosevelt, who made the keynote speech of the Democratic convention. This address was, in the main, a typical bit of New Deal demagoguery, similar in vein to a thousand others which she and her political associates have delivered in the past.

In it, she gently intimated that the forgotten man would be allowed to starve if Republicans were elected, and dusted off the somewhat mildewed "more abundant life" baloney for another serving.

As for Gov. Dewey's record in New York, she was willing to give him credit for all except the good parts, which she said really were owing to the Democrats. As logic, this was a bit of pretzel-bending; but neither she nor her hearers seemed to mind.

Actually, her address attracted rather more interest for what it didn't say than what it did. Many listeners were curious over her omission of any reference to the present President—Harry Truman, in case she has forgotten the name.

This odd circumstance, made all the more conspic-

SPORTS IN GENERAL IS Subject Before Rotary

ANDALUSIA, Sept. 7.—"Al" Bauer, who a number of years ago played on the championship Bristol Y. M.
A. basketball team, and who in 1936 served as coach of the American canoe squad at the Olympics held in Berlin, Germany, spoke to Bensalem Rotary Club members in King Hall, Tuesday evening.

Mr. Bauer, who also coached the Bristol Y. M. A. canoe team some years ago, spoke on sports in general, and told of the 1936 Olympics.

Vice-president Edgar Bekes presided; and guests were Ralph Nei-

Next Tuesday, Lt. Commander
Herbert E. Bryan will be the speaker.

JUNIOR COLLEGE IS PROPOSED FOR COUNTY

Would Be Established On Temporary Basis If There Are Enough Students

TO MAKE A CANVASS

A junior college on a temporary basis has been proposed for Bucks County, if there are enough students who will be interested. County Superintendent Charles H. Boehm announced today that all of the high school principals will be canvassed to ascertain how many graduates and veterans there are who cannot get into regular established colleges next fall. If there are enough day students in and near Bucks County to support a full program for the freshman year, the state will set up a temporary college in the most convenient center in the county. While there are many who may not be admitted to regular colleges this fall, the county authorities doubt whether there will be enough students to establish a temporary junior college in Bucks County in such a very short time.
Students who have successfully completed one year's work would then receive full credit in 1947-48 at a college of their choice somewhere in Pennsylvania.

Dr. Charles A. Ford, formerly of Temple University, who is in charge of the state program in Southeastern Pennsylvania, will come to Doylestown on September 13 to discuss the situation with the Bucks County principals.

The establishment of a junior college where students can secure one or two years of college work while boarding at home in not new. Utah, whose citizens had the highest level of education in U. S. the 1940 census provide junior colleges all over the state where high school graduates may secure two years of college work at relatively little expense.

In the past 15 years the percentage of high school graduates in Bucks County going to college has steadily been decreasing. In 1931, twenty per cent of all high school graduates went to college, whereas in 1941, only 7.6 per cent went to college. In 1931, 46.5% of all graduates sought further education in hospitals, teachers colleges, colleges, or commercial schools; by 1941, this percentage dropped to 20.5. On the other hand the percent of graduates going into employment in agriculture, industry, and business increased from 31.3 in 1931 to 64.7% in 1941. In the state only 44% of the high school graduates in 1941 went directly into employment.

Court Suggests Couple Make Effort to Agree

DOYLESTOWN, Sept. 7.—"This is a 50-50 case; it looks right now as though you are both to blame," Judge Hiram H. Keller told James Mooney, Warrington bartender, and his wife, Ann, of Doylestown, in domestic relations court.

Mooney, a former resident of Doylestown, now living with his aunt, Mrs. Eunice Donahue Kelly, former tax collector of Horsham township for 17 years, was before Judge Keller on a charge of desertion and non-support of his wife and two small children.

"These young people should get together," Judge Keller commented.
After both sides had charged domestic infidelity of various degrees, Judge Keller said that he was not quite satisfied with the testimony in this case concerning the Mooney children, charges of neglect and the kind of a home in which they have been living.

Judge Keller then continued the case until next Tuesday morning, directing that a private investigation be made into the actual facts and conditions concerning the Mooneys.

YOUNGEST COUPLE TO GET LICENSE WAS 18

They Gave Bristol As Their Residence When Making Application

OTHER STATISTICS

The youngest couple to apply for a marriage license in Bucks County during the month of August were residents of Bristol. They both were 18.

The various age groups showed that most applicants are in their twenties. The next group with the most male applicants was the 30 to 40 age group, and the next group claiming the most women was the 19-year-old category. Most of the other age divisions reveal the average results for each month.

There were 23 divorced men and 18 divorced women who applied.
This shows an increase in divorces for the summer.

The greatest difference in ages
was a couple from Philadelphia.
The bride-to-be, who was 17, applied for a license with her 53-year-old suitor. The youngest applicant was a 16-year-old Philadelphia girl, who applied with her 22-year-old husband-to-be.

The oldest applicant was a Long Island man, who was 74. His long-suffering wife was 54. The oldest couple, a man, 65, and a woman, 64, came from Philadelphia.

In comparison with July, the August records for marriage licenses in the Orphans' Court at Doylestown shows that during August there was an increase in the number of teen-age girls who applied for a license to wed. There were 34 girls in their teens, but only four boys, who desired to wed.

One hundred and sixty-four licenses were issued in August, while only 169 were applied for in July; however, the August peak did not come up to the 199 licenses issued in June. Of the 328 applicants, 135 were non-residents.

Interesting statistics show that two celebrities were granted a license in Doylestown during the month. They were Moss Hart, playwright, and Kitty Carlisle, singer, who were married in New Hope a few weeks ago.

Alfred Schuler Accused of Being "Nasty When Drunk" by Wife

HE HAD ONLY 4 BEERS

Wife Says Argument Resulted When She Refused To Put Gravy on Food

DOYLESTOWN, Sept. 7.—Alfred Schuler, 31, Bristol, was given a suspended sentence and placed on probation for a year, Wednesday, by Judge Calvin S. Boyer in the county court here.

He pleaded guilty to aggravated assault and battery on his wife, Amelia. She testified that her husband behaved when sober but that he was "nasty when drunk." She said that he threw a watermelon at her and then a chair, fracturing her thumb—and upset the table, all because she refused to put gravy on his potatoes.

"I had four beers, got mad at my wife and took my agony out on the furniture," Schuler, an ex-GI, told the court.

Mrs. Schuler told the court that she thinks "her husband needs some psychiatric treatment to get some things straightened out in his mind."

Despondent Woman Ends Life in Well

REVERE, Sept. 7.—Despondent because of recent business reverses, Mrs. Bertha Charles, 57, was found a suicide Wednesday evening when her body was recovered from a well

Tinticum township, off a road between here and Erwinna.

Mrs. Charles, who formerly conducted a tea room in Kintnersville, had been missing from the home of her brother, Solomon Schable, near here, since Tuesday morning.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 7, 1946

SEPTEMBER

There is a mellowness about September, a kind of drowsiness, as the season's harvest is evaluated and the books balanced for the year. Vegetation has climbed to the peak and retrogression sets in, the metamorphosis being first noticeable with the coloring of leaves.

September is the month of grapes, apples, pears, quinces and plums, which bring to an end the harvest of summer fruits. The month also brings cool nights and early sunsets, rootball, good golfing weather, resumption of school days, bird migrations and the odor of burning leaves.

Toward the end of September the majority of hibernating mammals has gone underground for a long winter sleep. The fat which they have accumulated during summer will keep them alive until spring, when they awaken and saunter forth coaxed by warm sunshine.

Most of the migratory birds have exchanged their bright summer coats for duller travelling raiment in which they are winging their way to tropical winter homes. They are being replaced by harder birds which nest in the Far North and seek more temperate climes for the winter.

NOT ENOUGH SOAP

Men in the soap business predict that the supply of the laundry product will become increasingly scarce with the reimposition of meat controls. Already it has nearly disappeared from store shelves. Home butchering by farmers and so-called black market slaughtering is given as the reason. The soap business has been built to its present proportions largely by utilizing by-products of the large packing houses. When butchering is done by small slaughterers these by-products do not become available for soap making.

Laundry soap has been hardest hit by inadequate production in the industry. Immense quantities of raw materials are needed in its manufacture and the profit margin is smaller than on toilet soap. In no other country in the world has the manufacture and use of soap reached the proportions it has in the United States. If there was lack of cleanliness in this country in the recent past, it was not because of lack of soap.

But this may not be the case next winter. With home and store supplies of soap all but exhausted, only peak production for many months could restore this commodity to its former condition of plenty. And production is scheduled to slump still further.

There was a time when the American housewife was not dependent on her grocer for soap. She made it. Many persons still living can remember when their mothers or grandmothers on the farm made their own cleanser. Generally it was concocted in huge iron kettles in the yard, much firewood being burned under the cauldron to properly process the ingredients, which were not always identical. Lye was, of course, added, and some of the finished product would take the hide off a rhinoceros, it is said.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Editor, Courier:
I should like to offer a correction to the final paragraph of the article in Friday's Courier regarding the meeting of the Bristol Township School Board held Thursday night in the Bristol Township Junior High School.

This paragraph should have stated that:
"Mr. Patterson, temporary chairman of the Fleetwing Estates Civic Association, was present with Mr. Gordon, the assistant chairman. The two asked the Board to have the school bus stop in Bloomsdale Road, which runs parallel to Green Lane, across from Plant No. 2, so that the pupils would not be required to cross heavily travelled Green Lane in order to board the bus. The directors informed the two that if parking of cars in front of the flagpole and within the intersection of Fleetwing Drive and Green Lane were eliminated, the school bus would then be able to stop in Bloomsdale Road instead of on the Plant side of Green Lane as is done now."

Yours very truly,
FLEETWING ESTATES CIVIC ASSOCIATION,
WM. R. PATTERSON,
Temporary Chairman

boys now bring guests at the school. The state presidents' and secretaries' conference is set for November 8th, and welfare meeting for November 9th, at Harrisburg. Mrs. Lebo announced that in the state the Auxiliary had sold one million war bonds during drives in excess of those cashed.

Mrs. Thomas Livesey presided at last evening's session, with 18 members in attendance. Report was made of carton of cigarettes sent to a hospitalized veteran, and cards to others. One patient acknowledged gift of a ditty bag.

An Armistice dinner is being arranged for November. Bristol unit has received a citation for activities during 1945-46. On September 19th Bi-County Council session will be conducted at Conshohocken, with reservations to be made by September 14th.

Mrs. William Graham and Mrs. Robert Rue served refreshments. At the October session officers will be installed with Mrs. Marvel Durham serving as hostess during the social period.

BRASSES for BRIGHTNESS

Brass Candlesticks holding unusual flower candles, and a tray of Singer Nan Merriman's bookcase. The old brass pitcher filled with water is usually used for serving, and the top tray usually hangs above her living room divan as a decoration.

By ELEANOR ROSS

Light, caught and reflected in the surfaces of a brass pitcher, will enliven and brighten even the darkest corner of a room. Which is one of the reasons why old pieces of brass are so popular. From antique shops as soon as they are displayed.

Pretty Nan Merriman, young actress and concert star, is an avid collector of brass. In fact, she's become an authority on it. She believes, and we agree with her, that brass, properly used in decoration, makes any furniture style or room except the most formal of rooms.

In her own case, she used it to make a home out of a furnished apartment. Over the divan, an old brass pitcher hangs at an angle. A brass tray with a brass pitcher and a brass candlestick are on either side of the divan. On either side of the pitcher is an original Godey print in a Victorian mahogany frame.

On top of the bookcase are brass candlesticks with unusual flower candles, and a large hammered brass tray that is used for serving. Around the room Miss Merriman has placed small brass ashtrays, a brass inkwell on her desk, and a brass pot for plants.

One of the loveliest pieces is the singer's Victorian lamp, which was inherited from an old kerosene lamp. The shade is cut-out brass with an intricate dragon and forest design, with a red lining showing through the cut-outs.

Her treasures come from little shops all over the country. The first she found in a little shop on a street in Syracuse, where she was taken by another enthusiastic collector. The little shops on New York's lower East Side have been a happy hunting ground for her.

Other shining surfaces, she has to be constantly looking for. But Miss Merriman loves her brass so much that she actually does the chore, which she says is a pleasure. She uses three kinds of brass powder for flat surfaces, cream for ridged surfaces, and an emery cleaning cloth to finish off the job. Then comes the polishing over with a soft clean cloth. When she brings home a find, it gets a good soap and hot water bath, and then the regular polishing routine. To help get into corners of pieces with intricate designs, the singer makes use of cotton-tipped swabs, commonly known as "Q" tips. She also relies heavily on that old standby for polishing—discarded tooth brushes—but warns against using too stiff a brush. Miss Merriman is against the use of lacquer on brass. She feels that it is a lazy man's trick to cut down on the polishing job. She advises cleaning brass fairly often to give it a rich, deep glow.

The Singer Polishes the bottom of a large brass flower pot, using the method described in the story. Other items on table await their turn.

PORTS HIT BY NMU STRIKE

THIS MAP shows some of the ports around the Great Lakes which have been affected by the strike called by the CIO National Maritime Union in an effort to win a forty-hour week and other concessions. At Duluth (1) pickets paraded in front of the docks. Eleven ships were without crews in Chicago (2). Thirteen more were reported strike-bound at Detroit (3). In Toledo (4), seamen walked off three ships and set up a picket line. In Buffalo (5), AFL workers ignored an NMU picket line established aboard a rowboat in an attempt to prevent removal of a ship from its berth. About two score ships were tied up around the Great Lakes in the first days of the maritime strike. (International)

Michaelson. The speech contained no new idea, suggestion, fact or fancy. For some obscure reason, the journalistic reflectors chose to regard as sensational Mr. Hanneagan's second-hand declaration that President Truman is the "rightful heir of Franklin D. Roosevelt;" that Mr. Roosevelt was a sainted figure worshipped by all right-thinking men, and that Mr. Truman will carry on where his predecessor left off. "Progressive America," melodramatically declared Mr. Hanneagan's ghost writer, "has its back to the wall. We, of the Democratic party, are going to hold the line against reaction. That will be our slogan in this campaign."

EXACTLY what there is in these remarkably corny sentences to justify such pompous adjectives as "thunderous" and "deeply significant" is difficult to see. What in the name of high Heaven do they expect a man in Mr. Hanneagan's or Mr. O'Neal's or, for that matter, Mr. Truman's position to say? What else could they possibly say, anyhow? Here is Mr. Roosevelt, President for thirteen years, succeeded, through an act of God, by his hand-picked Vice-President, chosen largely because he had gone all the way with the "Roosevelt policies" and was in every respect a Roosevelt man. Under these conditions, what else could Mr. Truman have done—and what else can he do? Can he repudiate the "Roosevelt policies"? Can he fall in eulogizing Mr. Roosevelt and all his acts and words? Can he do anything other than regard himself as the "rightful heir" without complete personal stultification and the precipitation of political chaos within the Democratic party? No reasonable man will say yes to these questions. The mere notion is ridiculous.

MR. TRUMAN not only inherited the "Roosevelt" policies, to which he was previously committed, but he also inherited the political alliance with the CIO and the radicals generally with which the Democratic party had been successful in three campaigns. And he also inherited Mr. Hanneagan. In brief, his inheritance is heavy, embarrassing and inescapable. It is something he could not avoid receiving and cannot get away from now. He has to "carry on" where his predecessor left off. However, no one ought to think it either easy, pleasant or politically profitable for Mr. Truman to be thus bound by his inheritance. His difficulties are clear. First, Mr. Truman, who is an intelligent man, knows that the so-called "Roosevelt policies" have become soggy and offer no solution for the very critical domestic situations with which he must deal.

SECOND, there is the obvious fact that the most ardent of the Roosevelt worshippers do not worship Mr. Truman at all but regard him as not a "liberal" at heart and incapable of carrying on the "Roosevelt policies." Third, the political alliance which Mr. Roosevelt had contracted between his Administration and the radical groups has bogged down pretty badly. For adequate reasons, public sentiment has turned strongly against them. In addition, Mr. Truman at bottom is a conservative. He accepted the Roosevelt radicalism because he is he was inspiring unpleasant pieces against Treasury Secretary Snyder, representing himself as prepared to "quit cold" if Mr. Snyder was not sent back to Missouri—some day these representations, if he keeps them up, are going to get him in trouble. He may have to make good on them, and that he will not like at all.

OF COURSE, Mr. Hanneagan does not lay down party policy and his "views" carry very little weight. Indeed, their most recent expression was in a radio broadcast, which his journalistic friends referred to as a "thunderous" speech of "great significance." Very few heard the thunder and almost everybody missed its significance. Actually, the speech was written for Chairman Hanneagan by Mr. Sam O'Neal, the Democratic director of publicity, who is quite as able and astute—if not more so—as his widely advertised and now retired predecessor, Mr. Charlie

LOCAL ELKS RECEIVE CERTIFICATE IN RECOGNITION OF WAR CONTRIBUTIONS

In recognition of having contributed its full quota to the Elks War Fund, Bristol Lodge No. 970, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, has been presented with an engraved certificate of appreciation. Exalted Ruler Charles Brodie received the certificate on behalf of the Lodge from the Elks War Commission at a meeting held at the lodge home.

The War Fund is made up of voluntary contributions by members of the Order and is used in many ways to render aid and comfort to members of the armed forces, as well as to help carry on a great deal of other activities stemming from the war.

Among the activities carried on through the Elks War Fund, which is administered by the Elks War Commission headed by James R. Nicholson, and supplemented by efforts of the individual lodges are: the establishment of 153 Fraternal Centers at hospital entertainment in 300 military and veterans' hospitals in 42 states; recruitment of Navy Seabees, Army Engineers, Naval and Army Air Cadets and Army Air Corps mechanic personnel; collection of material and manufacture of 150,000 pairs of slippers for veterans' hospitals and one million books for the Merchant Marine.

a party man who follows his leader—but the "true liberals" are right in suspecting that he is not really one of them—that he actually believes that 2 and 2 still make 4—no matter how you slice it.

NEVERTHELESS, he and Mr. Hanneagan and the Democratic party are all caught in the inheritance trap. They must "carry on" with the Roosevelt policies, though these are now largely in disrepute and much of the glamor of their late sponsors has been rubbed off by events. The only alternative would be a politically fatal repudiation. It is not a happy situation for the Democrats—one, it would seem, from which they can be rescued only by Republican stupidity in again being misled into imitating the "Roosevelt" policies through unfounded fear of labor lobbyists and the professional "liberals."

Pleads Guilty To 4 Burglary Charges

"My wife told me to stop, but I didn't know why I did what I did. I was insured, too," said the defendant.

Edward O'Neil, 28, Yardley, who pleaded guilty to malicious mischief, was given a suspended sentence by Judge Boyer on condition that he pay $18.75 of the costs of prosecution within 30 days and placed on probation for six months.

Mrs. Perma Henry, a next door neighbor, testified that the defendant threw an ash tray through the window, breaking the pane which cost 58 cents. "One of the Henry kids broke one of my window panes and I thought it was an 'eye for an eye,'" said O'Neil.

Judge Boyer warned O'Neil about losing his temper and suggested that the two families—Henry and O'Neils who live in a double house—treat one another as strangers.

"That's what I try to get into my wife's head," said the defendant, who is the father of four children.

John P. McLaughlin, 22, Doylestown, who pleaded guilty to carrying a firearm without a license, was given a suspended sentence by Judge Boyer and placed on probation for one year on condition that he pay the costs of prosecution and obey the law.

McLaughlin, who served with the famed Seventh Division in the Pacific, was arrested August 11, when he was found asleep on the front seat in a car belonging to Eugene Townsend which was parked in midtown here. Charged with being drunk and disorderly at that time he was found to be in possession of the loaded .22 pistol.

Asked by Judge Boyer why he carried the loaded pistol, the young veteran said: "I was going for a walk in the country and wanted it for my protection."

Mrs. Gertrude McLaughlin, who is employed at a local inn, said she knew the pistol was in the boy's room.

Pleading guilty to stealing about 75 gallons of gasoline, Paul A. Robbins, 24, of Warminster, RD, was given a suspended sentence by Judge Boyer on condition that he repay the owner for the loss of the gasoline and the costs of prosecution.

Robbins, who is married and served in one of the armed forces, committed the thefts in May and June in 1943. The gasoline was stolen from a former employer, William H. Doubler, Hartsville. Mr. Doubler, who said Robbins was a good worker, testified he got in with too many boys and became too popular.

Ralph A. Heineman, 26, Trenton, N. J., who pleaded guilty to receiving stolen goods, was sentenced to serve not less than six months nor more than three years and restore the sum of $251.

The defendant, an ex-GI, was arrested August 10, following the robbery of a cleaning establishment in Morrisville. The defendant admitted that some one named "Bill" told him how to drive to the cleaning place, got out of the truck, was gone several minutes and came back saying, "Let's go!"

He was placed on probation for a year following an arrest on a burglary charge in New York City, when a youth.

The assistant price chief promised that OPA would stamp out any meat black market. He said "We are out to see that what meat there is—sold at ceiling prices—right down the line from the farmer to the corner butcher."

Baker declared that the "full penalties of the law will be paid by violators—wherever they are."

The new meat ceilings, announced Friday, average three and three-fourths cents above the old levels. Originally scheduled to go into effect Monday, they are being delayed until Tuesday to allow distribution of retail meat posters to butchers throughout the country.

OPA officials pointed out that prices of Grades B and C beef and nearly half of all pork cuts would be rolled back to the June 30 levels. Veal cuts and sausage items also return to the old ceilings.

Increases in beef prices are confined to the two top grades—AA and A—on which the average boost will be eight cents a pound. Thus, the overall hike for all retail beef cuts is three cents a pound.

Pork cuts representing 58 percent of the total weight of all pork cuts will go up an average of seven to eight cents a pound, bringing the overall average boost for all cuts to four cents above June 30 levels.

Ninety-five per cent of all retail lamb and mutton cuts are going up with mutton averaging four cents over June 30 ceilings and lamb averaging ten cents a pound over the levels of that date.

In addition, the new ceilings on lamb will average five and one-half cents a pound over the old levels. These ceilings as well as price controls on canned meat and shortenings go into effect Monday.

Largest increases over the old levels reflected by the new meat ceilings are 16 cents a pound for sliced, packaged Canadian bacon and lamb loin chops, and 11 cents a pound for round beef steak, and lamb shoulder chops.

Prices of porterhouse steak and lamb leg roast range as high as ten cents per pound over the June 30 ceilings in some localities.

The ceilings for all meats vary according to geographical location and classes of stores in which they are sold.

In estimating the 759 million dollar addition to the nation's annual food bill, OPA officials explained that their figures were based on an annual per capita consumption of 144 pounds of meat.

The new retail ceilings are based on the livestock prices ordered by Secretary of Agriculture Anderson on Aug. 28. Anderson directed that Chicago ceilings per hundredweight on cattle should be $20.25, on hogs $16.25, and on lambs high enough to return $19 to the producer.

Reimposition of the retail ceilings completes OPA's job of restoring price controls on meat as ordered by the price decontrol board on Aug. 20.

Livestock producers' and slaughterers' ceilings went into effect Sept. 1, and controls over wholesale meat sales were returned Thursday.

"AND WHEN I CAME TO, THIS MAN WAS HANDCUFFED TO ME"

WHAT MAN?

WHAT?

HE WAS HERE A MINUTE AGO

NOBODY CAME IN HERE WITH YOU

WELL, GET GEORGE IN HERE AND LET'S HEAR WHAT HE HAS TO SAY

-BUT THAT GUY WAS WITH ME, YOUR HONOR. GEORGE, IN THE DETENTION ROOM, WILL VOUCH FOR THAT

THAT'S RIGHT, JUDGE...I TOOK THE HANDCUFFS OFF 'EM MYSELF

I SHOULD HAVE KNOWN HE'D OUTSMART THOSE DOPES

DO YOU MIND IF I WALK WITH YOU?

I CERTAINLY WASN'T EXPECTING TO SEE YOU

BUT I WAS EXPECTING YOU

YOU HAD A GUN WHICH YOU INTENDED USING ON ME... AFTER FORCING ME TO PAY THAT $100,000 BET

WELL, I'VE GOT THE GUN NOW AND YOU'LL DO AS I SAY

HUM! YOU COULDN'T SHOOT THAT WATCH MAN. YOU WON'T SHOOT ME

WHY SHOULD WE FIGHT, WHY? YOU'RE A FUGITIVE FROM JUSTICE NOW... LET'S WORK TOGETHER

WE'LL POOL OUR RESOURCES AND CLEAN UP... AND THEN SKIP THE COUNTRY WITH THAT SMART SERGEANT ON OUR TRAIL

WE CAN GET RID OF HIM

I DON'T KNOW

IT'S A CINCH, I TELL YOU. YOU'RE COOKED, ANYWAY

WE'LL... ALL RIGHT

Profy-Gallagher Wedding Is A Morning Event

As the notes of a bridal march were played by Miss Katherine Keating this morning, Miss Cecilia V. Gallagher, 201 Mill street, made her way to the altar of St. Mark's R. C. Church at 10 o'clock, there to take the vows which united her in marriage to Mr. Vincent Profy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Profy, 211 Mill street. Mr. Lawrence Gallagher, Corson street, gave his niece in marriage, and vocal selections were by Miss Madeline McCue, Philadelphia.

Miss Ellen Gallagher and Miss Marie Gallagher, sisters of the bride, served as maid of honor and bridesmaid, respectively; with Lt. Albert Profy, of the U. S. Navy, stationed at New York, N. Y., a brother of the groom, as best man; and Mr. Frank Profy, Mill street, another brother, and Mr. John Gallagher, Corson street, cousin of the bride as ushers.

As she approached the altar the bride was attractively costumed in a gown of white silk starched marquisette. Imported lace insert appeared at the midriff as well as around the shoulders just below a yoke of self material. The sleeves which buttoned at the wrists were tapered; and the starched marquisette skirt swept to a full train. A head-dress and two-tiered veil of net, with face veil, had clusters of orange blossoms at either side of the forehead. White bengaline slippers completed her costume, and she carried a shower bouquet of white roses and baby breath. For the recessional she carried a prayer book on which rested gardenias.

The Misses Ellen and Marie Gallagher wore floor-length gowns with brief sweeps. The gowns were of off-white nylon taffeta, the round necklines being low-cut, and short sleeves being puffed. The costumes were shirred at the hips to form bouffant style skirts. The head-dresses of each was formed of bands of off-white nylon taffeta, and the two wore gold slippers, short white silk jersey mitts, and carried colonial bouquets of red roses.

The members of the bridal party and parents of the bride and groom were served at a wedding breakfast at the Keystone Hotel following the ceremony. This afternoon a reception is scheduled at the Langhorne Country Club.

For a 10 days motor trip to Massachusetts, Mrs. Profy has selected a black velvet suit, black felt hat, and black accessories. She will wear a mink scarf, a wedding gift from the groom. A corsage of white roses will complete the costume.

For the ceremony Mrs. Hannah Gallagher, mother of the bride, wore a deep purple crepe dress, and black accessories; while Mrs. Profy, the groom's mother, chose a black dress and accessories. Both wore gardenia corsages.

The newlyweds will reside in an apartment at 201 Mill street. Mrs. Profy, a graduate of Bristol high school, is employed at plant 2 of Fleetwings, Inc. Mr. Profy, also a graduate of Bristol high school, served with the U. S. Navy during World War II. He is engaged in the electrical and radio business with his father.

HIBERNIANS MEET ST. ANN'S IN 3RD GAME OF SERIES

Two Rivals for Crown Will Meet on Maple Beach Field

GAME CALLED 3 P. M.

Attendance Records Being Shattered for Baseball Contests Here

The Hibernians versus St. Ann's. The above is the baseball dish for the fans of this vicinity tomorrow afternoon on the Maple Beach field as the third game of the five-game playoff series is played. Game will begin at three o'clock sharp.

Thus far the Hibernians-St. Ann's series has shattered all records for local league baseball crowds. Last Sunday's crowd was close to 3,500 and tomorrow's attendance is expected to eclipse that.

St. Ann's won the game last Sunday when "Danny" Keegan beat Joe Berry. Final score was 7-4 with the Hibernians rallying in the last inning to score three runs and still have two others on base when the final out was made.

The Hibernians were leading in the first game of the series, 8-4, when at the start of the fifth inning, St. Ann's was accused of stalling and the game forfeited to the Hibernians, 9-0.

League officials fined the "Saints" $50 for stalling but later this was cut to $25 due to the fact that additional evidence warranted a curtailment of the fine.

It is most likely that "Charlie" Whyno was battered from the peak in his appearance against the Hibs in the first game of the series. He was routed in the third after the Corson street boys pushed over six runs in the second and another in the third.

Whyno has had over a week's rest since that exhibition and is anxious to get in there and seek revenge for the whipping he received. His battery mate will be Barney Ludwig.

Either Joe Berry or "Hughie" Dean will pitch for the Hibs. Dean hurled in the first game and although the victim of a streak of wildness in the first settled down in the last three innings before the game was ended. Dean chalked up six wins and was beaten once during the regular season.

There is also the possibility that Berry may get another chance against the "Saints." Berry hurled well last Sunday but made the mistake of pitching two good balls to "Danny" Keegan. Keegan drove in four runs with a triple and single and scored another after reaching base on an error.

"Billy" Dea will be the backstopper for the Hibs. If Whyno pitches, "Jobby" Dugan will play first for the Hibs with Klein on second; Oppman, short, and "Herbie" Yates, third. "Camel" Breslin, Joe Roe and either "Billy" Gallagher or Joe Cahill will be in the outfield.

St. Ann's will start its keystone combination of "Rabbit" Palumbo and Bert Barbetta with "Lou" Mari holding down the hot corner. Fred Barbetta will be at the initial sack. This infield executed four double-plays last Sunday.

Manager John Scordia will have the pick of Joe Charella, Lou Sassi, Joe Pica, "Pete" DeLuca, and "Blondy" Biancosino for his outfield.

Owners of automobiles are requested not to park along the road in left and center field as hits in this territory are fair balls and prevents the outfielders from doing their best in fielding, besides stopping drives which would mean extra bases.

In the first playoff game, both "Herbie" Yates, of the Hibernians, and "Freddie" Barbetta, of St. Ann's, were cheated out of extra bases when their long drives to the outfield struck automobiles and came back to the playing field.

19-Year-Old Twins Will Enter Cornwells Convent

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 7—(INS)—Marie and Margaret Sullivan, 19-year-old Knoxville twins, today will discard their bobby sox and sweater and don the black garb of nuns.

The vivacious daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Sullivan will enter the Blessed Sacrament Convent at Cornwells Heights, Bucks County.

The twins said they have had their share of junior "proms," movies and dates, adding that they decided many months ago that their hearts were set on church work, particularly on missionary work.

Marie and Margaret didn't break the news to their parents until a few weeks ago.

Mrs. Sullivan said she thought something was "in the air" when the girls refused to buy summer clothes.

A brother, Jerry, 21, is studying for the priesthood at St. Vincent's Seminary in Latrobe.

Art Souders, Who Cracked Up Last Month, Will Pilot His New Craft

EDDINGTON, Sept. 7—Gil Peterman, Bronx, N. Y., and local Eddington driver, Doc Williams, are expected to provide top competition at the Aquadrome outdoor water speedway tomorrow. The forty-four point lead Williams holds over Peterman for top honors in Class 1 fifty-mile-an-hour racers will be further whittled down if Peterman duplicates his last week's performance of three first places.

Other contenders in the Class 1 12-lap feature will be Bill Gullin, Coatesville, missing from the line-up for the last three weeks; Jack Schiedel, Oreland, who was riding in second place in last week's feature when he suffered a mechanical breakdown; Tony Marjio, who Labor Day nosed out Williams in a photo finish at Harrisburg; Henry Shakeshaft, White Plains, N. Y.; Ed VanHouten, Kearney, N. J.; and Billy Watkins, Kensington.

Class 2 champion, Doc Edwards, Kensington, will face Ray Shilling, his Kensington rival; Jim Baden, Washington, D. C.; Ray Bowers, Sea Bright, N. J.; Dean Worcester, Silver Spring, Md.; Dutch Soliday, Middlesex, N. J.; Byron Shannon,

NEWEST MOTOR SPEEDBOAT THRILL

Six tiny fifty-mile-an-hour outboard racing hydroplanes rounding one of the turns at The Aquadrome, State Road and Neshaminy Creek, Eddington.

Short course outboard racing as presented on the tiny 1/4-mile oval water speedway places the entire thrilling race action directly before the view of the spectators.

Popular with drivers and spectators alike, the new type of boat racing attracts the outstanding professional racers from all parts of the country who chance numerous spills and crashes to compete for purse money. Races are held each Sunday afternoon with time trials beginning at 1:00 p. m. and the first race starting at 3:00 p. m. The Aquadrome thrill course will operate each week until the end of October.

Audubon, N. J., and Johnny Zack, Perth Amboy, N. Y.

Art Souders, New Cumberland, who cracked up both boat and engine in an upset on the Eddington 1/4-mile oval a month back, will be on hand tomorrow with a new outfit, A. G. Broadus, Richmond, Virginia, will make his first appearance tomorrow but is not expected to be up among the winners on his first try at the new short-course style of racing conducted on the Drome's artificial waterway, located at Bristol Pike and Neshaminy Creek, Eddington, Pa.

Time trials will get underway at 1:00 p. m. with the first of the six scheduled events starting at 3 p. m.
